

IN PERSON WORKSHOP

Synergetic Myofascial Method and functional movement assessments to improve upper crossed syndrome which indicates forward head posture, protracted and elevated shoulders, and TMJ with Magnus & Bobbi Eklund – Atlanta, GA – October 21-22, 2023 - 16 CE

Description: This course presents the fundamental concepts & strategies of Synergetic™ Myofascial Therapy - inspired by the work of Dr. Ida Rolf, stretching, vibrational bodywork, resisted/passive/active joint ROM & functional movements.

- Learn how to combine hands – on myofascial techniques with active movements from the client to create space and structural balance in the body.
- Learn postural and movement assessments to better understand how to improve structure through specific applications of myofascial techniques. Learning these skills will help you integrate fascial techniques into a session for your clients.
- Learn how to work effectively with nerve compression in myofascia of the neck, chest, shoulder and back. How to create opening and space in the fascia to improve forward head posture and nerve flow in Upper Cross Syndrome.

“It’s the fascia that envelops and crosses joints. Joints become the red flags; they tell you if and how something is wrong. You have to look for relationship, not only of joints, but within all of the mesodermal tissue. This will give you a more inclusive picture of what is going on in a body than if you look only at the muscles.” –Dr. Ida P. Rolf

“Magnus’s instructional style leads to that crystal-clear moment we all hope for when investing in a hands-on massage CE seminar; that moment of revelation when one realizes this work just makes sense. Powerful and effective, this is something I can do to make a genuine difference in the well-being of my clients. Magnus’s seven-part video series is an invaluable learning tool to use as a complement to his CE seminars.” Melissa K. Benson, LMT – LA 3406
